Join us as we discuss The Man Who Loved China
by Simon Winchester

The extraordinary story of Joseph Needham, the brilliant Cambridge scientist who unlocked the most closely held secrets of China--long the world's most technologically advanced country. This married Englishman, a freethinking intellectual, while working at Cambridge University in 1937, fell in love with a visiting Chinese student, with whom he began a lifelong affair. He became fascinated with China, and embarked on a series of extraordinary expeditions to the farthest frontiers of this ancient empire. He searched everywhere for evidence to bolster his conviction that the Chinese were responsible for hundreds of mankind's most familiar innovations--including printing, the compass, explosives, suspension bridges, even toilet paper--often centuries before the rest of the world. His dangerous journeys took him across war-torn China to far-flung outposts, consolidating his deep admiration for the Chinese people. After the war, Needham began writing what became a seventeen-volume encyclopedia, Science and Civilization in China.

Readers Advisory

Autumn for many is a time of diving into studies!
Here are some wonderful education-associated reads:

Classic Selections:

The Prime of Miss Jean Brody by Muriel Spark

Set in Edinburgh in the 1930's, an eccentric teacher inspires cultlike reverence in her students leading to unexpected betrayal.

Brideshead Revisited by Evelyn Waugh

Following WWII, the story of repressed Englishman Charles Ryder, and his intense relationship with the wealthy but dysfunctional family that inhabited Brideshead.

Modern Day Classic

The Secret History by Donna Tartt

A small Vermont liberal arts college houses an inner sanctum of Greek scholars. Secrets and lies accumulate as Richard is drawn into the bizarre world of Professor Julian Morrow and his students.

Mysteries and Thrillers

The Pledge by Rob Kean

When a Sigma freshman pledge turns up dead, Lacrosse Star Mark investigates and discovers that a fraternity is a top-secret criminal organization.

In the Last Analysis by Amanda Cross (#1 in Kate Fansler series)

When a student asks English Lit Professor Kate Fansler to recommend a psychoanalyst, Kate sends her to Dr. Bauer, a friend seeking the successive autumns.

~George Eliot

and former lover. But when the girl is stabbed to death on Bauer's couch, Kate sets out to prove Bauer is innocent.

Biography

Teacher Man: A Memoir by Frank McCourt

This final memoir in the trilogy that started with Angela's Ashes focuses almost exclusively on McCourt's 30-year teaching career in New York City's public high schools
